Petition.

We, THE UNDERSIGNED MEMBERS OF THE MEDICAL PROFESSION, having constantly before us the serious physical and moral conditions of degeneracy and disease resulting from the neglect and infraction of the elementary laws of Hygiene, venture to urge the CENTRAL EDUCATIONAL AUTHORITIES OF THE UNITED KINGDOM (the Board of Education of England and Wales, the Scotch Education Department, the Commissioners of National Education in Ireland and the Intermediate Education Board of Ireland)

TO CONSIDER WHETHER

it would not be possible to include in the curricula of the Public Elementary Schools, and to encourage in the Secondary Schools, such teaching as may, without developing any tendency to dwell on what is unwholesome, lead all the children to appreciate at their true value healthful bodily conditions as regards Cleanliness, Pure Air, Food, Drink, etc.

In making this request we are well aware that at the present time pupils may receive teaching on the laws of Health, by means of subjects almost invariably placed upon the Optional Code. By this method effective instruction is given to a small proportion of the pupils only. This does not appear to us to be adequate. We believe that it should be compulsory and be given at a much earlier age than at present.

It may, perhaps, be useful to call attention to what is being achieved in this direction by English speaking nations. In reviewing the steps taken it will be noted that one of the most prominent subjects with which the various countries have found it necessary to deal, is the question of the nature and effects of Alcohol.

In the ARMY SCHOOLS of this country and of all our foreign stations west of Aden, teaching in Elementary Hygiene is compulsory; such teaching including Temperance, Health and Sanitation, special attention being drawn to the deleterious effects of Alcohol.

In CANADA, with the exception of two Provinces, Hygiene and scientific instruction on the effects of Alcohol are compulsory subjects in all Public Elementary Schools throughout the Dominion. In the two excepted Provinces (Quebec and Prince Edward's Island) teaching on Temperance is given. In the Protestant primary Schools of the Province of Quebec lessons upon Temperance and Health are compulsory, while in the Catholic Schools instruction in Hygiene is compulsory, beginning with the fifth year of school work. In the books on Hygiene authorised in the Catholic Schools the ill effect of the excessive use of Alcohol is mentioned, but no special prominence is given to Temperance instruction.

In VICTORIA (AUSTRALIA) teaching on Health and on the nature and effects of Alcohol, is placed on the list of compulsory subjects taught in all the Public Elementary Schools.

In SOUTH AUSTRALIA teaching of Temperance is regularly carried out.

In NATAL instruction is given in the Primary Schools on the laws of Health and Temperance, these being included in the list of Optional Subjects.

The whole question is dealt with still more completely in the UNITED STATES OF AMERICA. There the teaching of Physiological Hygiene, with special reference to the effects of Alcohol and other narcotics, is compulsory in all Schools under State or Federal control. About twenty-two million children are being educated under this system.

Thus we have shewn that in many English speaking countries, definite attempts are being made to train the rising generation to appreciate from childhood the nature of those influences which injure physical and mental health.

Having regard to the fact that much of the degeneracy, disease and accident with which medical men are called upon to deal, is directly or indirectly due to the use of Alcohol, and that a widespread ignorance prevails concerning not only the nature and properties of this substance but also its effects on the body and the mind, we would urge the Board of Education of England and Wales, the Scotch Education Department and the Irish Education Authorities to include in the simple hygienic teaching which we desire, elementary instruction at an early age on the nature and effects of Alcohol.

We gladly recognise (1) the value of the teaching on this subject given in some schools in Ireland and in a proportion of the schools of Great Britain, by means of reading primers, moral-instruction talks, etc., and (2) the excellence of the occasional Temperance lessons provided in certain Schools by voluntary organisations: but until the four Central Educational Authorities of the United Kingdom include this subject as part of the system of National Education, it appears to us that the mass of the pupils must fail as at present to receive that systematic teaching of Hygiene and of the nature and effects of Alcohol, which alone we consider adequate to meet the national need.

Finally, we would venture to urge the necessity of ensuring that the training of all teachers shall include adequate instruction in these subjects.

The total number of Signatures received is 14,718. This includes 110 which are illegible, and, therefore, cannot be printed in this list.

NOTE.—Care has been taken to ensure the correctness of the foregoing list, but the difficulty of deciphering so large a number of Signatures has been great. It is probable, therefore, that a few errors have unavoidably crept in.
